Humanities Area
Concentration
39 credits
Bachelor of Arts

The Humanities Area option allows students to meet their individual education needs by developing a major based on courses from several departments within the Humanities Division.

The selection of courses should reflect a theme or program that is developed in consultation with an Academic Advisor.

Core Requirements
12 courses - 36 credits

To satisfy the requirements for a Humanities Area major, students select one department in which they take five to six courses (15-18 credits) and two other departments in which they take three to four courses (9-12 credits) each for a minimum total of 36 credits. An example of a program of studies for a student who chooses Communication as the major department and English Literature and History of Art and Architecture as the minor departments is shown below.

Communication
COMMRC 0310 Rhetorical Process
COMMRC 0320 Mass Communication Process
COMMRC 1102 Organizational Communication
COMMRC 1106 Small Group Communication
COMMRC 1109 Nonverbal Communication
COMMRC 1111 Theories of Persuasion

English Literature
ENGLIT 0580 Introduction to Shakespeare
ENGLIT 0590 Formative Masterpieces
ENGLIT 1012 19th Century British Literature
ENGLIT 1611 Development of the Novel

History of Arts and Architecture
HA&A 0010 World Art
HA&A 0150 Ancient Art
HA&A 1010 Approaches to Art History

Additional Requirements
1 course - 3 credits

After earning 90 credits, all Humanities Area majors must take one of the capstone courses offered in the major area of concentration to fulfill the capstone course requirement.
