

Fact Sheet – 2020 Winter Session at Pitt Greensburg

OVERVIEW

The University of Pittsburgh at Greensburg will offer 10 remote learning classes during its new Winter Session that will run from December 7, 2020, through January 15, 2021. The classes are open to students from all Pitt campuses and will be taught in an asynchronous format. This format means that the class is not bound to a particular time or location, including both the course content and assessments. While the asynchronous format leaves it up to the students when they participate, students are expected to follow class guidelines and meet key deadlines.

The Winter Session was developed with student success in mind. A Winter Session class can help students get ahead in credits, spread out their credit load between Winter Session and regular spring term classes, or catch up on credits by making up a class.

Winter Sessions classes were selected to meet a broad range of requirements. Students are strongly encouraged to check with their academic advisor or home campus advising office to determine how a particular class will fit into their curriculum.

ENROLLMENT

Greensburg Winter Session classes will be open to students from the all Pitt campuses. Students are encouraged to contact their academic advisor to discuss their options. Enrollment will open by Monday November 16th. Classes begin December 7th. Classes with less than 10 students enrolled, may be cancelled.
