From Greater Pittsburgh International Airport

This airport is located about 14 miles West of center city Pittsburgh. There are two alternate routes offered below for your consideration. The first is direct, shorter, and it involves transiting Center City via Interstate Highway - more visually interesting to the first-time or infrequent visitor to Pittsburgh. The second is a bit longer, less direct, skirts the city proper, and yet can offer a timesaving alternate route during rush-hour traffic.

Direct -Through the City

- From the airport, follow PA Route 60 East just a few miles to where it merges with U.S. Routes 22 and 30 (also call The Parkway West).
- Now follow U.S. 22/30 just a few additional miles to where it begins to be additionally designated as I-279 (DO NOT turn onto I-79).
- Follow I-279 into the city of Pittsburgh. As you come down the hill and approach the Fort Pitt Tunnel, you would do well to be in the right lane before entering the tunnel.
- As you leave the Fort Pitt Tunnel behind and drive onto the Fort Pitt Bridge stay in the RIGHT LANE and prepare to make a ninety degree RIGHT TURN at the far end of the bridge.
- Center City Pittsburgh is now on your left and the Monongahela River is on your right. You should now be traveling east on I-376 (also known as the Parkway East).
- Follow I-376 East for about 12 miles to the Monroeville area and take the exit designated for the Pennsylvania Turnpike (I-76).
- Follow I-76 (the turnpike) East for about 14 miles to the first exit, Irwin new #67 (old #7) and follow the directions outlined in From the West (via Pennsylvania Turnpike).

Indirect - Avoiding the City

- From the airport, follow PA Route 60 East just a few miles to where it merges with U.S. Routes 22 and 30 (also call The Parkway West).
- Now follow U.S. 22/30 just a few additional miles to its intersection with I-79.
- Turn South and stay on I-79 to its intersection with I-70, eastbound.
- Follow I-70 East to New Stanton.
- From New Stanton take U.S. Route 119 north about six miles to the Greensburg area.
- At intersection of U.S. Routes 119 and 30, turn left at traffic light and follow U.S. Rt. 30 east for about one mile.
- Exit right from U.S. Rt. 30 at the Greensburg- Mt. Pleasant Road exit.
- At the traffic light at the foot of the ramp turn right and follow Mt. Pleasant Road for approximately one mile.
- At the next traffic light you are at the main entrance to campus.
- Follow the campus map to your particular location.
